Hi! I am Mr Coe and I have been a teacher for almost 30 years. I have lived and worked and had adventures in many different settings, from South Africa to Latvia - in Eastern Europe, and also in England.

Over the years I have taught English as a foreign language, Religious Education, Sociology and Law and some Theology and Philosophy.

My greatest passion is teaching young people to learn new things but also to help them find their place in the world and achieve their personal best.

Having worked in mainly state secondary and Academy settings, I joined RTMAT in January 2026 to work as a community teacher in the Hospital School. What stood out to me most of all when I first started was the wonderful sense of community and team spirit. It is always hard making a change to start somewhere new, and I have been overwhelmed by the care and support I have received. From the Senior Leadership team to the support staff, I have felt a warm welcome with no problem being too small to get help and advice with. It has been a breath of fresh air to work in such a caring environment and has helped my transition enormously.

In the community team itself, there has been a wealth of experience and a generosity in sharing resources and wisdom. I have found that this has been translated into high levels of care for our students who have diverse educational needs and experiences of learning. I am so glad I made the change to RTMAT and look forward to many years ahead.
